Home-Made Candy Fresh Every Day at M.& B. Confectionery

Millions of men start in business and don't advertise. They all break up sooner or later. Don't get in that class. Be a live merchant or get off the street.

A fellow who lies to get in office will steal after he gets in. Vote for the man whose opponent lies about him. That's the quickest way to get honest men in office.

Smooth Stranger Works Many Local Merchants

Local merchants have been bumfoozled out of some good hard cash by the operations of a sleek stranger who presented himself here a few days ago. He was armed with a bunch of postoffice money orders stolen from the post office at Leonarda, N. J., and he proceeded to turn them into money.

He visited the jewelry stores of B. E. Brown, E. M Moyer and J. Layman and Son, and after purchasing some articles of jewelry presented a money order signed and in every way apparently in payment of the bill. In each case the jeweler accepted the order and gave the amount above the bill of goods in cash. When the money orders were presented at the post office, they were declared "No Good." Postmaster Jeffries had received notification from the department at Washington that blank money orders had been stolen from the Leonarda office and that should they be presented at any office for payment they would be forgeries.

The man presented himself at the Monessen Savings & Trust company and asked that an order be cashed, but he was turned down. He then went across the street to Meyers Brothers and Mr. Meyers was told by the stranger that he was a traveling man and that he had been turned down at the bank for money and that he needed it badly. He identified himself with transportation and letters and his order was cashed. The stranger then thanked Mr. Meyers and said that he would purchase some small articles which he did and paid the bill out of the money he had obtained.

The amounts obtained from the local merchants range from twenty to fifty dollars. It is believed other orders will turn up.

The money orders here were made out to A. C Cox. James B. Hardy was the remitter. They were signed by James Anderson, as postmaster. The date on the money order was October 15, and they were made payable to Cox at Pittsburgh.

The robbery in New Jersey occurred September 10, and it is supposed the money order books are being used in numerous towns and cities. A large number of money order blanks were stolen. The affable stranger who worked the scheme here was a man about five feet 10 inches tall and weighed about 175 pounds.

—The Senior class of the local High school held a very enjoyable masquerade party in the gymnasium of the new High school building last evening. All members of the class were present in costume and each guest brought some delicacy of the season to make up the lunch. This evening the Junior class will hold a similar affair.

Jitneys Collide

Two Ford jitneys came together in a head-on collision on the Monessen-Webster road near Shepler hollow this morning during the fog. The one car was driven by Simon Edlis and the other by Ernest Horn. Both machines were badly damaged, the car driven by Edlis suffering the worst damage, which will necessitate it being out of commission for some time. The heavy fog made it impossible for the drivers to see any distance, and although both machines were running slow, they collided. The passenger escaped without injury.

Special Train Tomorrow

The committee in charge of the special train to the football game at McKeeport is meeting with success everywhere and teh required number have signified their intentions of making the trip. It was erroneously stated in yesterday's paper that the game was on Saturday. The game is scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, and from present arrangements, the special train will leave here at 2:30. The players will also leave on this train accompanied by the coaches and the special train will arrive in plenty of time to allow all the rooters to be at the grounds before the referee blows his whistle for the kickoff.

All the men are in first class condition for the contest with the exception of Frazier, who is suffering from a badly swollen hand. Eller has fully recovered from his injuries received in the Donora game and will be back at his old position. Despite the fact that the team will be greatly outweighed by the McKeesport bunch, they expect to hold them to a low score and will put forth every effort to add another victory to their unbroken string. Any person wishing to make the trip will be welcome and should be at the local P. & L. E. station by 2.15.

Halloween Specials

Mikalarnaus & Berbatis, the old reliable candy manufacturers, have made ample arrangements for the Hallowe'en festivities and will have a fresh supply of pure home made taffy, chocolates, bon bons, fudge, etc. on hand. They will have special assortments for Hallowe'en parties, including candies and fresh nuts of all kinds Pop corn, novelties and many other delicacies that will prove just the right thing for this occasion will be on sale and the public is cordially invited to see their assortment now on display in their windows. Ice cream will be delivered to any part of the town. Just phone your order. 6-2t

Play Base Ball Game

In the first of a series of three games to be played between the Time force and the general office force of the Pittsburgh Steel, the general office boys literally swamped the upstairs boys by the one-sided score of 15 to 1. The batteries were Williams and Kelly for the time force and Urban and Graesar for the general office. The features of the game were the superb pitching of Urban, he having 13 strike-outs, and the batting of Destefano, he having three doubles and two singles in five times to the bat. Following is the box score:

Time Force	P.	R.	H.	E.
Eneix, 2b	1	0	0	1
Kuhn, ss	2	1	1	3
Symonds, cf	0	0	0	1
Nutt, 2b	1	0	0	2
White, 1b	5	0	0	0
Kelly, c	8	0	0	0
Williams, p	2	0	1	1

OLYMPIC — ONE OF THE WIZ. ONION

Today—Our great Broadway Universal feature in six acts, featuring the famous emotional actress Julia Dean in "Judge Not." The words "Judge Not" are very appealing. They have the same meaning as "Who Pays" or "Who is Guilty?" It s a matter of character, honor. life; it is a problem of our life and we must see it we must reap the benefit of this great production. When you see and know that a Universal feature of one reel is of great merit and unmeasurable value, think of a six reel feature, it must be great. We can not afford to miss it— Olympic. 1t

All In Readiness For The Republican Reception

All is ready for the reception of the nominees of the Republican party by the Young Men's Republican club which will be held this evening at the Kilroy hotel.

Two bands, the Italian Citizens and the Loukl Finland will furnish music. Both bands will be on the street at 7:30 o'clock and will furnish music through the early part of the evening.

HON. E. E. ROBBINS

At 7:30 o'clock the automobile parade will form in front of the freight station and will pass down Donner to Oneida street, thence to Schoonmaker, and along that street to Tenth, from Tenth to Donner and back to the Kilroy hotel where the reception will be held. Nearly all of the candidates have been heard from and have signified their willingness to be present. They will likely come early in the day by automobile and will return home after the reception.

In the company this evening will be found such stalwart Republicans as Senator Edward E. Robbins, James S. Beacom, W. T. Dom and others who are working for the success of the Republican party. It is not a question of victory they claim, but a matter of bringing Westmoreland county bick into line with as strong a Republican majority as possible. The reception will be in the parlors of the hotel and all of the Republican voters of the town are urged to come out and get acquainted with the men who will make up our board of county officials for another four years.

Creating Criminals

Maybe you think that you've seen the vilest of the vile in the way of police management, but get this latest from Chicago. Hereafter every boy who is brought into that city's juvenile court is going to have his finger prints taken. That's the way police officially treat a regular hardened criminal. So when some youth is picked up, he will be thrown right into the same basket of suspicion as the honest-to-goodness bank robber, train bandit and pickpocket.

The knowledge that they are under police eye all the time ought to have a fine effect on youngsters—not. The fact that about 50 per cent. of the boys brought into court are discharged with merely a little advice from the judge or because they were arrested through some copper's over-authority, makes this new system exceptionally rotten.

Instead of trying to correct and help boys who might get a poor start in life, this finger print proposition is bound to have a bad effect. A kid will feel that he is criminalized as soon as he presses down an inked finger on a pad of paper. But that is the system the wise juvenile charges have decided upon, so the boys whom coppers drag in, will be hauled up before the finger print expert of the civil service commission, and there come forth with a tell-tale print that will always hold them close to police surveillance.

"The president listened to the discussion with a far-away look in his eyes," says a Washington correspondent.

Woodrow, it won't work and you ought to know it. No use practicing up on that policy. Nothing will make her so doggoned mad as to be discussing things and have you put on that far-away look. Looking her straight in the eye and not hearing sometimes gets away with it, but that miserable, far-away, absent treatment look invaribly produceth wrath, as in the case of the Ohio hired man who was holding the cow by the horns while the cross-eyed farmer was about to hit it in the head with an ax.

"Are you going to hit where you're looking?" demanded the hired man.

"Of course" replied his cross-eyed employer.

"Then, blast ye, hold the cow yourself," roared Hank.

Don't pin your faith in any far away, wandering look, Woodrow.

We may not be all of one opinion, but we can be all of one patience. We are not always responsible for our opinions. They are formed by facts which we cannot shape; by a way of looking at things taught us in childhood; by a quality of mind inherited from our ancestors.

Undoubtedly all normal men love what is lovable and hate what is hateful; but men differ greatly—and honestly—as to what is truly admirable. Then only patience will preserve their peaceful relations. Patience is the control of the human machine. To let it stay out of order, to use it wildly, or to lose it, means disaster.

NINTH WEEK OF 'THE BIRTH OF A NATION'

Photoplay at Miles Theater, Pittsburgh, Still Draws

At the Miles Theater, Pittsburgh, D. W. Griffith's marvelous romantic drama "The Birth of a Nation," is now in the ninth week of its twice daily record-breaking run.

The magnitude of this spectacular dramatic production makes by comparison all other theatrical offers look inconsequential. Here are shown hundreds of scenes, thousands of actors and horses, armies in landscape in place of squads of mere supers jostling on a platform among canvas scenery. Here is the evolution of a people, the living chronicle of a conflict of statesmen, a civil war, a racial problem rising gradually to a puzzle yet unsolved. Here are social pictures without number, short stories, adventures, romances, tragedies, farces domestic comedies. Here is a whole art gallery of scenery of humanity, of still life and life in wildest career. Here are portraits of streets, homes, wilderness, pictures of famous conventions, cabinets, senates, mobs, armies, pictures of family life, of festivals and funerals, ballrooms and battlefields, hospitals and flower gardens, hypocrisy and passion, ecstasy and pathos, pride and humiliation, rapture and jealousy, flirtation and anguish, devotion and treachery, self-sacrifice and tyranny. Here is depicted the South in its wealth, its home luxury and wind-swept cotton fields; here are shown its soldiers riding away to war and trudging home in defeat, with poverty ahead of them and ghastly difficulties confronting them on every side. The realism of the work is amazing, astounding in its grandeur and faithfulness to actuality, and but a tithe of its charm is the unbroken fascination of its 12,000 feet of film.

For the accommodation of out of town patrons the box office of the Miles theater is prepared to fill immediately all requests for seats that are accompanied by money order and stamped addressed envelope.

"AT BAY," A PLAY WITH A HISTORY.

It is interesting to note in connection with the announcement of Pathe's intention to put George Scarborough's play "At Bay" into pictures, that Mr Scarborough was formerly connected with the U. S. Secret Service and drew upon his experience there in writing the play. Naturally he had access to the secret records of the Service and when "Via Wireless" was running as a "legitimate" success on Broadway as well as the road, it was reported that various hidden scandals in high society had been utilized in the writing of the play.

SCENES IN "VIA WIRELESS" FOOL SEASONED CRITICS.

George Fitzmaurice, whose picture, "Via Wireless" has just been released by Pathe, has been reading with much interest the many complimentary reviews which have been written about the picture. One thing in particular has interested him.—almost without exception the critics have praised the remarkable scenes in the gun foundry, showing the casting of a gun. "The highest compliment I could get," says Fitz, "those foundry scenes were all taken in the Pathe studio in Jersey City."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

NOT DISMAYED BY JERSEY RESULTS

Pennsylvania Suffrage Situation More Advantageous in Every Particular

QUIET CONFIDENCE PREVAILS

Women Believe That the Chance to Make Pennsylvania Lead the East Will Be Seized by Its Men

The defeat of woman suffrage in New Jersey has had the somewhat curious effect of strengthening the feeling among competent, unbiased observers that suffrage has more than an even chance here in Pennsylvania. Among the leaders of the suffrage forces, the feeling of quiet confidence that has characterized their campaign from the start has perceptibly increased as a result of the reports received since the result in New Jersey became known. In a word, they feel that the New Jersey defeat, in view of all the conditions that surround it, indicates certain success here.

This feeling of the Pennsylvania suffragists is based primarily upon the fact that conditions in the two States are entirely different. There was little real organization work done by the suffragists in the State east of the Delaware. Then again, the election there was a special one. One of the results of that fact was that only a part of the total vote turned out. Another was that the election officers seemed to think that the bars were down and as a result made little or no effort to check the activities of the opposition heelers who ignored and flouted the election laws in the most defiant manner at many of the polling places. The most powerful political organization in the State was openly against suffrage and it fought with all its strength and daring to swamp the women's cause.

As a result of these conditions, not only the suffrage amendment, but two other proposed changes in the State constitution were voted down.

This latter fact has made a profound impression in this State, where three other amendments in addition to the one giving women the right to vote will be voted upon on Election Day. In the eyes of the shrewd and far seeing observer it stands perhaps as the greatest single influence in swinging opinion here to an agreement that woman suffrage has an excellent chance to win. For the friends of the four amendments which the voters of Pennsylvania will pass upon next Tuesday have come to a realization that if a real fight is made against any of them, all are likely to go down to defeat—and there are some powerful influences behind all of them.

The people of Philadelphia who are anxious to begin a number of sorely needed public improvements want Amendment No. 2 to go through, and the wage-earners of the State are just as much interested in the fate of Amendment No. 3, which grants the legislature power to pass adequate workingmen's compensation laws that will hold in the courts. Amendment No. 4 permits the insurance of land titles in the various counties. This has long been demanded in this State.

But the suffrage interests have made their fight on the merits of their own proposition and they are not in any way depending upon the support of those who favor the other amendments. They will be glad, of course, to get it and they welcome the indications that it will be forthcoming, but the real basis of their confidence lies in the quiet but effective constructive work which they have done. Organizations, clubs, granges, labor unions and many other associations have endorsed the movement and formally called upon their members to support it with their votes at the polls on November second. Almost no work of this character was done in New Jersey.

But that is not all. Not a single political organization has taken a hand against suffrage in Pennsylvania. Indications are now that the politicians will observe a "hands off" attitude to the last. In this connection it may be said that it is the big politicians of the State who are most prominent among those who are predicting that the showing made by the suffragists in this State will be totally different from that in Jersey.

Finally, the fact that the Pennsylvania referendum is part of a regular election makes it more certain that a full vote will be polled and that wholesale attempts to ignore or violate the election laws will not be attempted. The women welcome the idea of a heavy vote and will make every effort to get their supporters to the polls both in the cities and the rural communities.

BE FAIR, MEN

The fate of the long campaign for Woman Suffrage is now up to you. If you vote "YES" on Election Day, women will get the ballot.

You know that the women of this State have never worked for any bad issues in government. You know that their whole influence always has been and always will be for the public good.

They have faith in your fair-mindedness and in your faith in them. In this faith they ask you to help give them justice by voting "YES" on the Woman Suffrage Amendment—No. 1—on November second.

AMENDMENT NO. 1 IS SUFFRAGE ONE

Heads List Of Amendments Printed At The Bottom Of The Ballot

Exact knowledge of the position of the suffrage amendment on the ballot this election and of the way to vote for it are necessary to all those voters who intend to help give the women of Pennsylvania the full political rights to which they are entitled.

It has been officially decided that the constitutional amendments will be at the bottom of the same sheet on which the names of the candidates for the various offices are listed. The suffrage amendment will be the first one,—No 1. All four of the amendments that are to be voted upon will be printed in full, one under the other. On the right hand side of the mass of fine print which gives the legal wording of each amendment will be the words, "Yes" and "No." To the right of each of these words will be a square space in which the voter is to mark a cross to indicate his choice. To vote to give to the women citizens of this State a voice in the government under which they live the voter must put his cross in the square beside the word "Yes," to the right of Amendment No. 1, thus:

Amendment No. 1	Yes	X
	No

The women of the State believe that no man who believes in fair play will pass by Amendment No. 1 without marking his cross in the "Yes" square to the right of it.

We should always judge a man by the company he chums with, so with political and other issues, we must judge of the merit by the company they keep. It seems the ward heelers, the repeaters and the ballot box stuffers are all lined up against woman suffrage.—Waynesburg Messenger

Mrs. J. F. Leonard, 7 McKee avenue, Monessen, says: "I was bothered by a dull, heavy pain in my back for several years. While doing my housework, my back throbbed just like a toothache. If I stooped over, the pain caught me and I could hardly straighten. I often got so dizzy that I had to sit down. My head ached and my eyes were effected. I felt tired and languid all the time. I tried everything but didn't improve until I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the Hirsch Drug Co. The second box drove away the trouble. Occasionally I takea few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills when I work hard or catch cold. They never fail to help me."

In short—This week's program: —The Universal presents today at the Olympic, Julia Dean with Harry D. Carey in "Judge Not," a six act photodrama from the story by Peter B. Kyne, produced by Robert Leonard. The cast:

Molly Hanlon.....Julia Dean
Miles Rand.....Harry Carey
Lee King.....Harry Carter
Judge Rand.....Harc Robbins

Molly Hanlon after the death of her father in the camp at Mona Diggins, has no one to support her. Lee Kirk, a gambler, comes to her aid and proposes marriage. Molly accepts, but is tricked into a false marriage. Miles Rand has a quarrel with his father in his eastern home and comes west to Mona Diggins, where he meets Molly.

Kirk becomes jealous and wounds him. Molly persuades Kirk to go home and make a man of himself and soon afterward follows him. She educates and rehabilates herself and when Miles has been elected district attorney, comes to visit him. Miles wishes to marry her, but his father objects. Kirk follows Molly and threatens to expose her if she does not give him money.

Molly, believing she will ruin Miles' future, decides to give him up. That night Kirk tries to extort more money from her and in a struggle for possession of a revolver he is shot. Molly is arrested, but Miles defends and frees her and there is a reconciliation, Judge Rand, Miles' father finally consenting to his marriage. It

FRIDAY—Another wonderful day and guaranteed in every point. Popular Plays and Players present for the Metro company and they present for us, the virile American dramatic star, Emmet Corrigan in the story of a magnificient sacrifice "Greater Love Hath No Man" from the book by Frank L. Packard, in five acts. On the same day "A Kentucky Idyll," in two reels, featuring J. Warren Kerrigan, the famous actor; also one of Nestor's comedies "And the Best Man Won," featuring Billie Rhodes and Neil Burns.

SATURDAY—As usual the 23rd episode of "The Diamond From the Sky," full of thrills and adventures and wandering actions and the hope of winning the $10,000 offer. The next is "The Yellow Star," one of Bison's Universal features, the kind we have very Saturday, in three reels. Animated Weekly with the latest news and one very good comedy.

Is Coming With High Class Entertainment to the People of this City and Vicinity.

The Great Spiegel has Created a Great Sensation Throughout the Principal Cities of the United States.

The people of Monessen will have an opportunity of seeing one of the most eccentric individuals now traveling throughout the United States. This man of the hour is known as the Great Spiegel, whose success throughout the entire length and breadth of this country has brought to him an enviable and enduring reputation as a lecturer, advertiser and philanthropist.

He ranks foremost in his particular line of business as a benefactor with his specific remedies, being the leader and most original wherever he goes. The cognomen of the Great Spiegel is well befitting his, as thousands of people listen to him nightly when he delivers his lecture showing worldly experience. It is said that the command and power of his personality is so strong that a pin can be heard when dropped.

He carries with him a large company of high class performers giving free band concerts and entertainments at the Monessen opera house. Without a doubt his outfit is one of the finest of any medicine companies traveling today. This will be a rare treat to the people as the lectures, concerts and vaudeville show are of a high class order.

A Final Word

An anonymous circular is now being distributed through the county by Chas. E. Hays and James E. Bell in the interest of the latter's candidacy for County Controller.

The several statements made therein are adroitly distorted and are malicious falsehoods, written and distributed at the very end of the campaign to mislead voters.

The books of the Controller's office are open at all times for your inspection. If it can be shown that a single dollar of the county's money has been improperly paid out during the current term by the present County Controller, both he and his bond are responsible to the County.

Why has this attack or attempted criticism been so long delayed, unless to deceive voters?

Do you want a man in the County Controller's office who has made a failure of every business enterprize undertaken by him or entrusted to him?

Do you want a man in the Controller's office who has advanced no argument in favor of his election except that he "needs the job?"

Do you want a man in the Controller's office who makes promises to the public without knowing the requirements of the office to which he aspires, nor the amount of work entailed in properly accounting for every detail of the county's business?

Do you want a man in the Controller's office who, during the last few years, has endeavored to fill a number of responsible positions and has failed to acceptably fill any of them?

Do you want a man as Deputy Controller who, within the last two years has tried to fill several different jobs and who, during that time, has been dismissed by a corporation for falsifying its books, and who, for some reason unexplained, failed to properly account for cash coming into his hands and entrusted to him?

Would you employ in your own business any man who has shown himself to be unsuccessful and an absolute failure in every business ever entrusted to him or undertaken by him?

If you want ripe experience and continued efficiency in the office of County Controller during the next term, vote for

To the Voters:

A Brief Statement Concerning the Bullets Made by Bob Herbert and fired by Jno. P. Kilgore.

My democratic opponent, John P. Kilgore, has thrown down the glove for controversy in this campaign and because of several insinuations that he has made in a circular letter I am using the newspapers that everybody may read and know the manner in which he has assailed me and my replies.

Mr. Kilgore asserts that he is not a corporation candidate. Let us see. Read his circular letter and then read back over the Greensburg Tribune during the long time that paper was viciously assailing me. Does it not strike you that Kilgore's letter and Bob Herbert's articles have been written by the same individual? Bob and Kilgore are fast friends and members of the same political party. Now for his record. During the coal strike in this county Mr. Kilgore was president of the police committee in Greensburg council. At that time many questions growing out of the strike came before council. One of the issues involving the police department, over which Kilgore exerted absolute czarism, was the question of keeping the strikers off Main street in Greensburg borough. Council differed on the question and it will be recalled that Kilgore and the corporation clique, headed by Richard Coulter, president of the Keystone Coal & Coke company, were voted down in one of the most famous fights that ever took place in the Greensburg council, with the result that there was a complete shakeup in the police department and a new attitude was taken toward the liberties of the coal miners whenever they cared to come up town to make purchases or attend to business matters. It might also be stated that extra policemen were put on while Kilgore was president of the police committee to help the strike breakers get through Greensburg and out to the mining towns. Of course the taxpayers of Greensburg paid for these policemen. Against this the coal strike did not cost the taxpayers a cent through my office. Kilgore's attitude was at all times against the coal miners and in favor of the corporations and his few associates were invariably among the enemies of the working class.

Compare the Records

Mr. Kilgore prides himself on conducting "a decent and honorable campaign" and I am going to put it up to him to do so now. He has made a statement that I have been circulating a report that he was a deputy sheriff in the Morewood strike in 1890. Mr. Kilgore is mistaken in this matter as I never accused him of being a deputy sheriff at Morewood. I have never heard it mentioned in the campaign. Mr. Kilgore himself has here raised an issue that might make it profitable for the working people to investigate. Inasmuch as I have told the truth so far as I know it about Mr. Kilgore and the Morewood strike it is only fair that he withdraw the falsehood that I was a member of a gang of strike breakers called the "Pine Knots," at Natrona, in Allegheny county. I was never a strike breaker and furthermore I never worked in any capacity whatever at Natrona. I defy and will give $500 to any man who will prove this statement made by Kilgore and put it squarely up to him.

Other portions of the Kilgore circular bear so strongly the earmarks of his secretary, Herbert, and what the Tribune has dwelt upon for so long that the public knows it by heart. This history my enemies never get tired of rehearsing, but since over his own signature, John P. Kilgore, my opponent in this election, cares to sing the song once again I think he should have made a brief mention, at least, of the part of my history where I was a slate picker, a miner, a mill worker and a glass worker for over 25 years. While he has sought the easy side of life, for instance, a bar tender, a hotel keeper, a tobacco merchant, a pop manufacturer and for many year, and at the present time, a breeder of pedigreed bull dogs.

As to the reference made by Mr. Kilgore to the effect of my election on the rising generation against his, let the records of how we have stood on public questions and the occupations we have followed be the deciding factors on that point. And believing the voters are more interested in knowing what kind of a man they are now voting for, than they are of knowing who his great-grandmother was, I submit the above for their consideration, as to what effect their votes would have on either the present or the rising generation.

Mr. Kilgore brings up the rear of his argument with a long family history. As I have never been engaged in the bull-dog business as he has, I am not an expert on pedigrees. However, I am quite sure that one of my noted ancestors was Adam.

As above mentioned, Mr. Kilgore threw down the glove in this contest, evidently at the direction of some of my old enemies.

To the voters of Westmoreland county I desire to say that I heartily appreciate the manner in which I have been received during this campaign. The handsome support given me at the primaries with such a large field of popular men as opponents was gratifying and fully appreciated. To the individual voter I desire to say that I want your vote at the election, Tuesday, November 2, and shall do my best to give a square and impartial administration of the sheriff's office.

Thompson Creditors To Withhold Suits

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 28—The committee of five of the Fayette County Bar association, appointed to consider the financial difficulties of J. V. Thompson, met with Mr. Thompson and his attorneys. It was decided that no suits should be filed until after a meeting next Monday evening. After Monday suits may be filed, but the writs will not be returnable until after November 22. According to the law, judgment cannot be entered until 30 days after the return of the writs, which will be on December 22. Mr. Thompson left immediately after the meeting for New York.
